YANKS GAIN 10 MILES IN METZ OFFENSIVE

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

RESUMPTION of the indiscriminate bombing of civilians in Britain by the Hitlerites—this time with the new long-range rocket, as announced by Prime Minister Churchill today—has brought to my desk from a distinguished reader the advocacy of retaliation in kind on German civilians.

Well, it's easy to understand the urge to retaliate against such diabolical practices. That's human nature. However, we must answer the question of whether it would be justifiable. Our reader justifies it with the claim that brute force is the only thing the Prussian mentality can understand.

The German purpose in inflicting such a horror is, as Mr. Churchill says, to attack civilian morale—and it's that for that purpose. The Nazis haven't invented any new method of controlling these new weapons so that they can be confined to military objectives. These great 60 foot, 15 ton rockets are shot 60 or 70 miles into the air, to land willy-nilly. The same lack of control characterized the rocket's predecessor, the V-2.

To be sure, both the rocket and the robot can be directed approximately at a target the size of London but, while there are legitimate military objectives in the metropolis, that doesn't excuse bombardment of non-military sections for the express purpose of killing non-combatants. It would be quite as justifiable to employ poison gas—and a good sight more humane.

This new attack comes after several weeks of relief from the frightful assaults with the robots. Fortunately Mr. Churchill was able to say that the scale of the rocket attacks "has not hitherto been significant" and that there is no need to exaggerate the danger. Unfortunately, that couldn't be said of the robot, which is also known as the "V-1" (V for vengeance), the flying bomb and the buzz bomb. It was just viewed as a new film "V-1" a British Ministry of Information short which will be re-run through RKO in America soon; that graphically depicts actual scenes from the robot warfare against civilians. It's a thrilling but shocking story.

The German attack lasted 80 days from mid-June until the end of August. It was centered in southern England and London bore the brunt of it. More than 21,000 people were killed or injured. Over 1,104,000 houses were destroyed or damaged. The Boche launched some 8,670 robots, and about 2,300 got through to the London region.

But the British stood up to this new terror, as they did against the awful German air bombardment early in the war. They weakened not one whit. Forty-six per cent

The banquet will be for Legionnaires and all ex-service men, including veterans of the present war and soldiers home on furlough, as well as all veterans of World War I.

3 TOTS PERISH IN HOME BLAZE

Mother Critically Burned In Morning Fire At Carrollton

(By Associated Press)
CARROLLTON, Nov. 10.—Three children were burned to death as flames destroyed the one-story bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Dunlap, located one mile from Carrollton, early today.

They were Charles Leroy, 9, Jackie, 7, and Earl Kay, 8 months. The parents and their eldest son, David, 10, escaped but Mrs. Dunlap, 35, was reported in critical condition from burns at Mercy hospital, Canton.

Investigators said the blaze apparently resulted from spontaneous combustion in the kitchen of the home.

Dunlap, employed by Babcock & Wilcox Co., at Alliance, said the crackling of flames awakened him about 3 a. m. The bedroom where the parents and infant slept adjoined the kitchen. A sheet of fire met him as he opened the kitchen door, Dunlap said.

The father climbed from a window and helped his neighbor Foster Eich, who helped him carry Mrs. Dunlap and David to safety. The fire spread so rapidly they were unable to rescue Earl and the other two sons, who occupied another first floor bedroom. Carrollton firemen made a fruitless attempt to save the dwelling.

WLB ISSUES ORDER IN POTTERY WAGES
The regional War Labor board today issued an order in the case of U. S. Pottery Association and the AFL National Brotherhood of Operative Pottery, directing vacation pay be computed at two per cent of total annual earnings exclusive of overtime premium and night shift bonus as agreed by parties. The order affects 18,000 employees.

The board said the directive was issued to settle a controversy between the company and union which arose over eligibility questions following the WLB's order of last May 25 granting one week paid vacations to workers in the pottery industry.

JAPS MUSTER NEW TROOPS TO FIGHT YANKS

Enemy Manages to Land 35,000 Soldiers In Defense of Leyte

(By Associated Press)
GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 10.—(Via Army radio)—Running a gantlet of harassing American planes and PT-boats, 35,000 veteran Japanese troops have joined the Sanguine battle for Leyte, Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today in an announcement which indicates the battle for the Philippines may be long and hard.

The disclosure that despite all American efforts the Japanese had succeeded in replacing their heavy losses suffered in 22 days of fighting is having a sobering effect on the optimism which followed the comparatively easy initial landing.

Gen. MacArthur set forth the situation in a matter of fact manner. It is not viewed as pessimistic. He has at hand more than enough troops to handle the enemy forces now arrayed against him, but the general made it clear that the terrific advantage gained by the surprise landings on Leyte's east coast has about run its course.

Japs Hold Ormoc
The Japanese have been able to recover from the initial shock, but with only their west coast stronghold at Ormoc still remaining to them. But they recovered in time to make at least a determined stand for the remainder of Leyte.

Gen. MacArthur's communique today disclosed American troops broke a four-day stalemate in the battle for Ormoc "with substantial gains on a wide front." Ormoc is in flames as the result of artillery and aerial bombardment and its

Crosby's Eyes Moist As He and Wounded Vets Reach N. York

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—Hollywood's wandering minstrel, Bing Crosby, was home today after a four-months tour of England and the battlefronts of France.

Nothing El Bingo saw abroad touched him so deeply, he says, as the spectacle he witnessed as his troupe, the former Queen Mary, brought war-weary, wounded and spent young American soldiers to their native soil for the first time in three years.

"As we steamed into the upper bay of New York," says Bing, "1,000 American soldiers, all of them casualties and many without hands, arms or legs, begged to be brought topside to the forward deck. These boys hungered for a sight of their homeland and the Statue of Liberty, the epitome of all they had been fighting for, all they had sacrificed."

"I cried unashamedly along with them as the Manhattan skyline came into view and we passed Bedloe's island where the Statue of Liberty stands. A fellow from San Diego who had lost both legs was by me as we sailed by. 'She's a great old girl,' he murmured in a choked voice. 'She was worth every bit of it.'"

PRESIDENT GETS HEARTY WELCOME IN WASHINGTON

Throngs Brave Rain To Cheer F. D. R. As He Returns to Capital

BY FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt returned to the capital today after his fourth term victory and assured thousands assembled to welcome him that he was "very happy" to be back.

With Vice President Wallace and Vice President-Elect Truman riding with him in an open car, Mr. Roosevelt arrived at the Christopher Columbus statue adjacent to the union station at 9:04 a. m. He had come in by train from his Hyde Park estate about 40 minutes earlier.

A night-long rain almost stopped as the President paused to wave to the crowd and speak briefly into radio microphones at the statue. No amplification system had been installed and only those very close were able to hear.

Little Johnny Boettger, the President's grandson, sat proudly in the front seat of the presidential car, beside the driver. As the parade swung south toward the capitol and headed down Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues to the White House, traffic Director William A. Van Duzen estimated at least 25,000 men, women and children were gathered in the immediate vicinity of the station. Many additional thousands were packed tightly along the curb along the parade route.

Lausche Faced With Making 9 Department Appointments

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—Democratic domination of the state administration, mandated at the polls Tuesday, is expected to result in speedy appointment of nine new department heads, plus a change of faces in several lesser posts.

Gov.-Elect Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland, whose ballot box victory over Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati ended a six-year Republican regime in the state-house, will have the opportunity of filling the $6,500-a-year cabinet posts of agriculture, commerce, finance, health, highways, industrial relations, liquor control and public welfare.

Director of Education Kenneth Ray serves until Aug. 15, and Gov. John W. Bricker, who ends his third two-year term Jan. 8, will name a new director of public works for a one-year-term shortly before leaving office.

Several other important departments are managed by commissions or have directors whose terms are fixed by law. These include utilities commission, Tax commission, Board of Tax Appeals, Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, Industrial commission and Civil service.

Democrats captured three of six elective offices in the state with the election of Lausche as governor, George D. Nye of Waverly as lieutenant governor and the reelection of Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson to his third four-year term.

Germans Hurl New Rockets At Allied Troops, On London

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Germans for weeks have been plunging V-2 rockets into England at a speed faster than sound and from arcs 70 miles high but thus far have caused little damage, Prime Minister Churchill announced today in Commons.

"The Germans said V-2 and the earlier V-1 flying robot bomb were being used against both Paris and Antwerp as well as England and boasted that the vengeance weapons would make the hard-won Belgian port 'unsuitable for unloading troops and materiel on a major scale.' The intact docks of Antwerp are depended upon by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to supply his offensive into Germany.

"The scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant," Churchill said.

WAGNER'S CAMPAIGN TOPS EXPENSE LIST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—On the basis of incomplete reports available to the senate, the successful campaign of Sen. Wagner (D-NJ) was the most expensive.

Wagner reported no personal expense but the Wagner-For-Senator club listed $38,001.15 as its outlay up to Oct. 27.

Expense items covered oyster roasts in Maryland, lawn parties in New Jersey, and $250 worth of transportation for voters in Oklahoma. Most money, as usual, was listed for advertising of various kinds, or for radio time.

In many cases, campaign financing is handled by a club, or the state committee. Expenditures reported by the candidates themselves included:

Indiana: Homer W. Capehart (R), $5,630.80; Cornelius O'Brien (D), $1,200; Henry F. Schriker (D), $3,531.52.

Kentucky: James Parke (R) $6,136.83; Alben W. Barkley (D) $4,250.

Ohio: William G. Pickrel (D) $7,046.30; Robert A. Taft (R) $9,266.85; Pennsylvania: James J. Davis (R) $4,154.62.

In 1907 he and his cousin, the late D. U. Smith, purchased the Brown company operating a partnership, the Smith Co., in which he was associated for 19 years. He sold his interest to his cousin in 1926.

Mr. Smith was a member of the First Presbyterian church for 64 years and for many years served as church trustee and elder.

He was married May 31, 1883, to Ella Amelia Smith, who died in 1903.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Sarah Townsend Smith, to whom he was married June 3, 1914; two daughters by the previous marriage, Mrs. George Cooper of Youngstown and Mrs. Leo Holloway of Columbiana; two grandsons Walter and David Holloway; a sister, Mrs. Hannah Stratton, of Glendale, Calif., and one brother, Sterling Smith of Glendale, Calif.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Dr. R. D. Walter and Rev. G. D. Keister. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

Chateau-Salins Among Places Seized Today

(By The Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 10.—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army shook its mud shackles and surged forward in a full blown offensive today, capturing Chateau-Salins along with dozens of other towns and villages. A total advance of 10 miles was made at places in the three-day drive along a 55-mile arc around Metz.

Artillery pounded on both sides of the Maas (Meuse) in Holland as the enemy displayed nervousness at the possibility of a new offensive into northern Holland.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' United States First army prodded the Germans with local attacks in the Hurtgen and Schmidt areas southeast of Aachen.

Lt. Gen. Patton's tank-led offensive southeast of Metz plunged three miles beyond Delme, gaining momentum and taking shape as a north-eastward power drive to cut in behind the fortress city, last major stronghold remaining to the Germans in northeastern France.

TEAMWORK JOB FOR CONGRESS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—President Roosevelt and the new Democratic-controlled Congress inherited from the 1944 elections today an opportunity for the greatest teamwork job in American history.

The fourth term, President rode to the capital this morning, a ride that was transporting him from the flush of tremendous victory at the polls to sobering hard work.

The votes of 45,000,000 Americans had been counted, a majority—better than 3,000,000—for Roosevelt. They gave him and his party a working majority of at least 55 in the house and 19 in the senate. They also gave the party 25 of the 48 governorships of the nation.

Ahead lies the dual challenge for the President and the 79th Congress to wind up the war and together write a peace that will last.

"This, as the president's opponent, Thomas E. Dewey said in his campaign, is no one-man job.

On the President's part, he faces: The impending conference with Churchill and Stalin; the Chinese problem enhanced by removal of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell at Chiang Kai-Shek's personal request; decisions on the makeup of the new cabinet, provided any changes would be contemplated; a number of major appointments now likely to be made momentarily.

The retiring congress meeting next week has some work to do but the spotlight hereafter is on the new one that convenes in January.

This 79th congress must appropriate the final punch funds of war, it must equip the President with special wartime powers that are due soon to expire, rene anti-inflation and other economic controls, act on taxes and other domestic matters. Principally, though, it will be the "peace" congress.

Whatever Mr. Roosevelt and his cohorts work out for the peace must

Improve Park Ball Field

Centennial park was dedicated to the city 38 years ago with ceremonies during the city's centennial celebration. It contained a fine grove of trees and a large field that had been used for football and baseball for many years. In the years that have passed since the dedication the city has treated this beauty and recreation plot like a step-child, at times neglecting it pitifully. Today it is an attractive spot, used every summer by thousands of Salem's young and old, but most of the improvements have come through the manual efforts and financial support of the Kiwanis club members and other groups, including park commission members who donate their time and labor.

Neglect through all those years has been to the ball field. The condition of the field, especially the baseball diamond, is not much better than it was 50 years ago. And yet it is the only diamond for the use of the increasingly large number of small boys and men who are playing hard and soft ball in the city today. A noticeable revival in interest in this clean and healthful sport has been attracting more players and more organized leagues in recent years. They deserve a better field on which to play, and fans deserve better accommodations while watching the teams in action.

It was encouraging to learn that Councilman Harry Vincent brought this to the attention of city council Tuesday night, with a plea that funds be provided to correct the dangerous condition of the ball field and put it in real playing condition. His plea should not go unheeded. If there is any possible way for council to allocate funds the money should be provided for this purpose. The city has spent too little on every section of the park; it is time to prepare the way for more improvements there. Some day, we hope, the city will discover what an asset it has in the park and provide sufficient funds for its proper maintenance and improvement annually, even if it requires a special tax levy. We'd vote for that, and we are sure the majority of Salem people would.

Foreign Papers Please Copy

During the last several months word has filtered through from the outside that the electioneering antics of Americans were puzzling this nation's allies and friendly acquaintances.

It needs to be pointed out as often as anyone will pay attention that the antics are puzzling only in the sense that a hound dog trying to get rid of a horse-fly on his back is puzzling—until the observer takes the horse-fly into consideration.

Every four years the United States has a revolution, more or less. Elections come and go sometimes without any particular excitement, like the apathetic contest in 1924, but apathetic ones are the exception. As a rule, there is too much at stake to permit apathy.

While the excitement prevails, almost anything can happen and usually does. If words were lethal, the whole country would become a shambles. But words aren't lethal; that is the secret. Foreign papers please copy that in large type.

On midnight before election day, according to an unwritten law, all words stop. The next day from dawn to dark all across this wide country the people make their way to the polls and indicate what they think about it by putting little crosses on pieces of paper. This is fundamental, of course, and supposedly well known to civics students the world over, but it is so fundamental a great many persons forget it.

The results of what is written on the pieces of paper may be drastic, but they are accomplished in the mildest way imaginable. One side won and one side lost, hooray, congratulations and so what? Maybe there is a turnover in the government. Maybe there isn't. Either way it's still the people's government because they made the decision.

To all persons abroad and to a few at home who missed the point, a lot of things happened as the result of the 1944 election, but on Wednesday the country went about its business as usual. This is a great country. Any country that can figure out a painless way like that to change its governing officials, or retain them, or do whatever it pleases with them is the greatest country there is.

Ohio's Tribute to Gov. Bricker

The transfer of Ohio from the Democratic to the Republican column in the 1944 presidential election is a tribute to Gov. Bricker as well as Gov. Dewey.

The state was proud of its governor's important role in the national campaign. Ohioans had backed him enthusiastically for the Republican presidential nomination. When he accepted second place on the ticket, they were confident he would add more than the usual strength to that position. Their confidence was well placed. He was the workhorse of the Republican campaign. Ohio's pride mounted as favorable reports of his reception in other parts of the country were heard during his speaking tours.

To a considerable extent, Mayor Stewart's strength in his bid for the governorship, too, was a reflection of Gov. Bricker's prestige in this state. Mayor Stewart's pledge to continue Gov. Bricker's policies was the key to his campaign.

The loser's lot in a national election is not ordinarily a happy one, but John Bricker, in losing, has clinched a place as one of the country's most respected public figures. In Ohio he will continue to be one of its great governors and best loved citizens.

And now the battle for cigars is an "All-Out" one.

When you get into the habit of doing nothing it's hard to finish.

Greece's Contribution

Through four years of German occupation Greece suffered torture, hunger, cold and disease. With liberation a bitter fight between opposing political factions has come to the surface, and ruinous inflation has been added to the country's miseries.

It would seem that the Greeks could be forgiven if, absorbed in their own tragic problems, they paid scant attention to anything more than the task of trying to restore their own health, stability and prosperity. Yet their government has announced that the Greek navy will be at the Allies' disposal for use in the Far Eastern war.

The Greek navy is neither large nor powerful, but its offer cannot be dismissed as a gesture. Or, if it is a gesture, it is one of the most generous that could be made. The Greek government might have decided that the war with Japan was none of its concern. But it has decided that freedom anywhere is its concern. In doing so it has acted in the best tradition of Greece's noble history.

There have been quite a few critical comments over the fact that Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery has chosen to name his well-beloved canine pet after the Nazi Fuehrer. The consensus seems to be that what has happened to Sir Bernard's "Hitler" shouldn't happen to a dog.

Purpose of Tonsils a Medical Mystery

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE NEWS comes that our military and naval doctors are having some anxiety with epidemics of tonsillitis. The number of lost man hours directly attributable to inflammations of the throat and tonsils is always a problem sometimes even serious enough to slow up military operations for a few days. Methods of shortening the length of the disease by chemical therapy, such as sulfa drugs, have been used quite successfully.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Of course the military experience is just an extension for the doctors of the troubles they have with tonsils and have had with them for years on the home front long before it became the home front and when it was just home.

Just what the tonsils do is a mystery. Presumably they have some function, but it is hard to figure out what it is. They have not even the function of being ornamental, as eyebrows have, because except when the mouth is wide open as in the dentist's office and the Senate, they cannot be seen at all.

Lymphatic Tissue

In structure they are lymphatic tissue. In the form of islands, or lymph nodes, this tissue is scattered all over the body. It is definitely associated with the over-coming of infection. Bacteria, or germs, which light in lymphatic tissue usually get killed off with neatness and dispatch. Sometimes, of course, if the battle is a severe one the lymph node itself gets pretty well snarled up and partially destroyed and shows up as an enlargement under the skin—called by the oldtimers "kernels" in the neck or groin or armpit.

But exactly how lymphatic tissue exposed in the back of the throat can overcome an infection is more or less a puzzle. The tonsils and adenoids become the seat of infection all right but when they do, they are more of a nuisance than a help to the body economy.

The lymphatic tissue, also, is part of the blood system having to do with one form of the white cells but while the tonsils and adenoids play their part in this function along with the rest of the nodes, they are certainly not necessary to the process because the body already has more tissue of this kind sils which look as if they would not allow him to swallow.

The question as to whether the tonsils should come out or not is a moot one. There is no question that they are natural breeding places for infection and tonsillitis is a potentially dangerous disease. Certainly there could be no argument that after the first real attack of tonsillitis the tonsils should come out, because one attack predisposes to others.

She was sitting in one of the high-backed armchairs as I walked through the lobby of the Towers. I had just looked silly, the way I had.

"Well, Ginger?"

"Hello, Leo!"

There was something changed about her. My eyes traveled down her crossed legs, then up again. I took a few moments of fluster to realize I'd never seen her in that with a veil before. Becoming self-conscious she pulled at her long gloves, then straightened her silver fox neckpiece.

"Don't look at me like that! I'm not a ghost, Leo."

I sat astride one of the arms of the chair facing hers and tried to put myself together. This wasn't the cards. When you've adjusted yourself to someone going out of your life you can't switch back to the former relationship just like that. I'd burned bridges behind me.

"Well," she continued, "aren't you glad to see me?"

"Sure I'm glad to see you," I said. "And surprised."

"What the hell did she want from me anyhow? Looking at her from the quarters I saw it wasn't only the veil that made her seem different. There was something else. I couldn't put my finger on it. Let's go up to your place," she suggested.

The strain between us didn't wear off, even after she'd removed her hat and fur, and had flopped down on the divan.

"A drink?" I suggested. She nodded. After handing it to her I turned one for myself.

"Well, Ginger," I asked, "what's going on?"

She was a confused monologue that showed she'd start off on one track then leave it dangling in the air and go on to something else. The essence of her concern her relationship with Boggio, and apparently things weren't quite what they used to be. He'd been acting up with her ever since I'd gone to California and she was getting up with the whole thing. She hadn't used to being treated like that. Who did Boggio think she was?

As she warmed to her subject she crushed her cigarette and began talking at me instead of the ceiling. I lolled back in my chair and watched her the way you look at an actress on the stage, a sort of personal, exploratory look. I was trying to figure out what had happened to her or to me that had brought about such a change in the manner I reacted to her presence. Where was the magnetism that had always set my pulse pounding? Physically she hadn't changed. She still had what it took: the curves in the right places, the hair, the eyes, the deep throaty voice, the feline way in which she moved.

I must have become so fascinated by my conjecture that I wasn't even listening to what she was saying until all of a sudden she came out with something that made me sit up and take notice. It was so unexpected that I thought I'd misunderstood her.

"What was that?" I asked.

"Dug his nails in me," she repeated. "Scratched me!"

That was a new one.

"Ginger," I said, "You've been reading too many horror stories."

"So you don't believe me?"

"No. Boggio's too much of a coward. If he wanted to kick a dog he'd get someone to do it for him."

"All right," she said. "Look!"

She worked her shoulder out of her gown, slipped a strap and showed me. There were several marks of fingernails, faint but still visible. I let out a whistle.

I was about to tell Ginger that a dope she was for not having scratched his eyes out, when I remembered. Hadn't we gone over all that before? And hadn't she made it clear that if she stuck with him it was because of his free and easy way with dough insofar as she was concerned? So I decided to cut out the sermon and handed her another cigarette. Then I lit one myself and we smoked in silence.

"Leo!"

"Yes, Ginger?"

"What's come over you?"

She reached out and took my hand. I wanted to withdraw it but didn't. Something had taken place inside of me and I was deeply puzzled. All the other times I'd been with Ginger I'd wanted to take her in my arms. This time it was different and I wished she'd go.

I wouldn't care if I never saw her again. I wouldn't have to run away any more because it didn't matter. I could even go up to Boggio's and kid around with her. If she patched up her misunderstanding with the rat she could slobber over him in my presence and I still wouldn't care. Somehow her hold over me had been broken and I wished I knew why.

"What's wrong, Leo?" she asked.

"Why don't you say something?"

Nothing was wrong. It was okay so far as I was concerned and I wouldn't have missed finding it out for anything in the world. But how was I going to tell her?

"Leo!"

"Yes, Ginger."

"You don't want me around anymore. You are just being nice to me?"

There was anxiousness in her voice.

I turned to face her. She was still the same good-looking dame with green eyes and red hair and white skin. But that was all. Just another dame.

She understood now. Her voice was no longer anxious. It was bitter.

"Nobody's going to patronize Ginger LaVerne," she said. "I'm not that kind of a girl. Let's go!"

She pulled herself from the depths of the divan, adjusted her fur piece, and walked to the door. (To be continued)

Today's News From Washington

AMERICAN VOTERS were called on Tuesday to cast their ballots in many special elections, involving municipal bond issues, old age pension schemes, closed and open shop proposals, postwar city planning and airport programs. In general, the electorate seemed disposed to turn down any ideas that smacked of radical social planning, but were willing to spend money for legitimate post-war improvements.

SUPREME COURT CASES pending in the current term involve many questions of major importance to business, including constitutional problems, anti-trust suits, state labor statutes and numerous other issues on which the tribunal in previous terms has split three or four ways. The slow progress made during the first five weeks of the new term indicates that fundamental differences still exist which may make this term more tumultuous than last year's.

FOREIGNERS WANT more American aircraft than our own airlines have so far ordered. France, the Netherlands, Australia, South Africa and Russia are the best sales prospects. Their orders here are likely to aggregate more than the 225 craft already ordered by United States airlines from Douglas, Lockheed and Curtiss-Wright. These three companies, and perhaps Glenn L. Martin, will get the bulk of the early post-war business. Douglas will take the lead.

HUGE NEW LABORATORY for testing aircraft opened this week at Wright Field. It's the Army Air Force's $1,500,000 structure—so big "you could lose about five B-29s in it." Ships can be taxied from a flight apron into the more than two acres of testing space. Included are five floors of offices, a machine shop, a storage room.

BRIEFS: A League of Nations survey around the world finds "efforts to curb the wartime rise in prices are steadily gaining in effect." Twenty thousand tons of charcoal are being burned annually in Swiss autos. France has television with brighter, bigger pictures than that now used in the United States, according to Edward R. Murrow, C.B.S. chief in Europe. A Chicago Christmas card manufacturer already is turning down about $2,000 of orders a day.

SWEDEN WILL NEED fewer imports after the war, an analysis by the Swedish Institute of Economic Research shows. That's because she has increased her industrial capacity. Expansion in the engineering field.

GERMANY SUFFERED more than two million casualties from May to November, 1944, official statements from the eastern, western and southern fronts disclosed. These were divided: Russia, 790,000; western front, 1,060,000; Italy, 194,000.

To Convert Bombers LONDON—Great Britain is planning to join the commercial air race immediately after the war by converting its great Lancaster bombers into airliners. According to some British experts, tests have shown that the bombers easily can be converted.

Keep Safe Distance Between Your Auto And The One Ahead

Don't become involved in an accident by following too close to the automobile ahead, advises A. P. Morris of the Columbiana County Motor club. Follow at a safe distance.

The driver ahead may come to a sudden stop—realizing he has missed his turn. He may stop to pick up a soldier or sailor or he may swing out unexpectedly to avoid striking a child who has run into the street. In sudden stops or moves like these, the driver ahead seldom has time to signal his intention and if you are too close to him, a rear-end collision may be the result.

At night, in addition to allowing plenty of space between your car and the one ahead, dim your lights so that the glare from your headlights will not be reflected from the rearview mirror of the car ahead into the eyes of the driver.

GEN. ARNOLD SEES LONG WAR IN EAST

Says Air War Against Japs Is Still In Earliest Phases

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Nov. 10.—The air war against Japan still is in its earliest phases and months, perhaps years, may be required to finish the job, declares Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Forces.

In an address last night before the Cleveland Aviation club, the Air Force four-star commanding general said Japan would feel the same destructive effect from aerial bombs as Germany if we continued to bomb that country with B-29 Superfortresses.

"It may take a little longer than for Germany," Gen. Arnold warned. "The air war against the Japs is still in its earliest phases. It's going to take a gigantic combined effort of all our arms to knock these people out. They are tough babies. It will require months, perhaps years, to finish the job."

Gen. Arnold reported the protective armament of the B-29's is so effective that less than five had been lost in actual aerial combat. He said one group of Superfortresses was attacked by 76 Jap fighters and not only lost no planes but suffered only 13 bullet hits during the engagement.

Referring to Germany, Gen. Arnold said the Allies still "have many bitter, bloody battles ahead of us before we finally defeat Germany. The Luftwaffe has been crippled but it is not dead. Our attrition rates are still heavy. They are fighting like fanatics to save the facilities they need to continue their very existence."

The general also reminded his audience that "our enemies bank heavily on the American people losing interest in this war." He said that strategic bombing of Germany would rise in intensity until the nation finally collapses.

Eleven of the 7,083 islands in the Philippines account for 94 per cent of the total area.

There are, actually, white blackberries.

JAPS MUSTER

"usefulness to the enemy as a supply base has been greatly reduced." American planes, in the air again after being grounded by a 100-mile-an-hour typhoon, strafed and bombed Japanese installations and shipping.

The Japanese first opportunity to land reinforcements came Oct. 25 when every American naval and air unit available was engaged in crippling the large Japanese fleet which came out from the north and south. There was no time to watch for Japanese reinforcements when the entire Philippine campaign was at stake in one naval battle.

They added to their reinforcements—in considerable numbers—Nov. 1. They took advantage of the fact our airfields on Leyte had not been developed sufficiently to base medium and heavy bombers and the planes available were not enough to stop them.

A few days later they took quick advantage of a threatening tropical hurricane and pushed in still more fresh troops and equipment. These breaks probably won't occur for the Japanese again, but they were breaks that will multiply the price in American lives and money which must be paid to win initial stages of the battle for the Philippines.

Confesses Slaying Of School Girl, 14

PUTNAM, Conn., Nov. 10.—Police Sgt. Norbert Desrosiers said today that a man identified as Frank Szymonowicz, 26, of Utica, N. Y., had signed a confession that he had killed Marie Lamonde, 14-year-old Salem, Mass., high school student, whose body was found Wednesday near her high school stadium.

The girl, who had been missing since Sunday evening, was the victim of a "sex fiend" according to District Attorney Hugh A. Cregg of Essex county, Mass.

Cregg said that she had been criminally assaulted and that an attempt apparently had been made to strangle her with her own scarf.

A medical examiner reported that her skull had been fractured "from ear to ear."

Sgt. Desrosiers reported that Szymonowicz, against whom no formal charge had been placed, came into the police station last night and asked for lodging because "he didn't want to stay in the dark."

Asserting that he was suspicious because of the man's behavior, Desrosiers said he confronted him with a newspaper picture of the girl Szymonowicz, the officer continued, at first denied knowing the girl and then later confessed.

Killed In Collision

CANTON, Nov. 10.—Robert Dougherty, 20, of nearby Fairhope, was killed and a companion, Nick Magisano, 23, of Canton, was injured when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a locomotive tender at a crossing here last night.

Too Friendly

SCRANTON, Pa.—An over-friendly dog was to blame today for a $5,000 trespass action against its master, Bartel Strasser. Miss May Magee charged the animal "fawned" upon her so much, she was knocked down and sustained a fractured leg.

GERMANS HURL

made accuracy impossible. Churchill termed highly colored accounts of the V-2 "flying telegraph pole" bombardment broadcast by the Germans in the past two days, and said they indicated the Germans were in "desperate need" to give the home front encouragement.

Attain 70-Mile Height

The bombardment with rockets— which arch up to 70 miles in the stratosphere before landing without warning at a speed greater than sound—was described by the prime minister as less effective than the robot bombs.

Before the Allied armies overran launching sites of the winged bombs, the Germans inflicted heavy damage on London and southern England. The Germans now launch winged bombs from airplanes flying out over the North sea.

Churchill disclosed captured Walcheren was one Dutch island from which rockets have been fired and said other sites would be overrun by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's armies.

He said casualties and damage so far have not been heavy.

"We cannot be certain that the enemy will not be able to increase the range of the rockets," he said.

"There is, however, no need to exaggerate the danger," he said. "The scale of the attacks has not hitherto been significant."

Churchill described the rocket bombardment as another attempt by the enemy to attack the morale of the civil population.

"Some of the rockets have been fired at us from the island of Walcheren (in southwest Holland) which is now in our hands," he said. "And other areas from which rockets have or could at present be fired against this country will doubtless be overrun by our forces in due course."

sional seats and reelected three incumbent members of the house.

Control of both state legislative houses remains in Republican hands. Ohio Supreme court membership was unchanged, with Democrat Carl V. Weygant renamed chief justice, and Republicans Edward E. Matthias and William L. Hart as judges.

Lausche's unofficial vote total, boosted by a 3 to 1 margin in his home county of Cuyahoga, was 1,565,152, highest of any state candidate. Republican George A. Bender, reelected Congressman - at - large, polled the second highest total and the highest for Republicans—1,540,324.

Bender's majority over William Glass was 165,825, second to the majority of 187,628 given Don H. Ebright, Akron Republican reelected state treasurer.

The War Today

of the robots were brought down by the combined efforts of guns, fighter planes and balloons. And finally the raids were halted through intense bombardment of the Nazi launching sites and experimental stations by the United States and British air forces.

Now the Nazis are at it again with their new V-2 weapon. Should the Allies try to halt this by retaliating on German civilians? Since it's the British who are being bombed, I'll let the answer come from one of them—Brig. Gen. Horace Sewell, the military commentator. He says:

"The Allies' sole aim at present is to win the war as quickly as possible by defeating the German forces on the ground and in the air. Destruction of German industries, organizations, system of communications and military installations is an essential step in bringing about the military defeat of Germany, but indiscriminate raids on German cities for the sole purpose of lowering the morale of the civilian population is not justifiable and therefore will not be adopted by any of the United Nations."

PRESIDENT

Washington as the procession got under way.

"Thanking Washington for braving the weather to welcome him, Mr. Roosevelt said he could hardly tell how happy he was to return and gave his special thanks to government workers 'who are helping to win this war'."

Mrs. Roosevelt's place in the parade was a short distance behind the President and her car was followed by those of cabinet officials including Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau. Hundreds of special police, augmenting the regular secret service details, patrolled the route.

The crowd had started gathering as early as 7 a. m. Umbrellas popped open everywhere as a heavy rain began to fall about 8:30. Water dripped from sodden flags along the avenues.

A roar of welcome swelled up as the President's car emerged from the station and well-wishers held up banners carrying such messages as "In 44 We Need You More," "You Won Here Let's Win Over There," "You're Back and We're Back of You," and "USA-FDR."

A wedge of 50 motorcycle policemen clattered down the avenue immediately ahead of the President.

Washington roped off the streets turned out the brass bands and let the kids out of school to welcome President Roosevelt back to the White House where he has spent nearly a fifth of his life.

go before the U. S. senate and only a two-thirds majority there will sanction it. That will require some Republican votes. Secretary of State Hull has not ignored the Republicans in the senate and has taken them into his confidence, as well as the Democrats, in frequent parleys on progress of the peace plans.

Mr. Roosevelt and the old congress have battled tooth-and-nail on some issues where southern Democrats teamed up with Republicans. But on major questions involving the war, the congress gave the administration pretty much what it wanted.

Sen. Harry S. Truman, the vice president-elect, sounded the teamwork cry, declaring it was his first goal to keep that mile between the White House and the capitol only a geographical barrier.
"Though they came out second, the Republicans had a mighty vote in this election and will still have an important role in the law-making process. It is the law-makers who came nearer to winning than any other defeated presidential candidate since 1916."

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 10.—The Ohio Salary Study commission recommended today a general 10 per cent increase for nearly all salaried state employees as of Dec. 31, 1944, and a two per cent raise each year thereafter for not more than five years to meet "an emergency."
The raise, the commission stipulated, would be figured on the employees' base wage and could not exceed a maximum of $900 yearly.

LEAVES FROM A WAR
CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK

by Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY—It was dark and the two soldiers were sleeping. Pfc. Otto Kaiser of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Pvt. Thomas A. Gill of Turtle Creek, Pa., dug a deep foxhole and covered the floor with straw. They fell asleep.

They awoke a few hours later in four inches of water. Drowsily they baled it out and lay down to sleep again. They awoke once more to find water again in their foxhole, but they were too tired to get up. By dawn they were practically floating around. They found they had dug their foxhole on the site of a spring.

Instead of abandoning it, these resourceful troopers dug a channel to let the water escape, hollowed out a basin in which to wash themselves, built themselves a stove and advertised throughout the division: "The only foxhole with hot and cold running water."

Pfc. Leslie T. Kerr, Akron, Ohio, heard something moving in the bushes and warned the assistant squad leader that on the other side of the stone fence he had glimpsed a Jerry soldier, "gun and all."

It was near Brest. The assistant squad leader sneaked carefully to take a look and then stomped back in disgust. "That," he announced, "is the first German I've ever seen with four legs, two horns, a tail and a milking machine."

Capt. John C. Cole, Louisville, Ky., jokingly told his supply sergeant, Tommy Powers of Worcester, Mass.: "If you don't get me a canteen cup pretty soon, I'm going to bust you lower than a snake's belly."

At the next chow lineup Capt. Cole, who is an officer in an armored division, found 18 cups in his barracks bag.

When they get around to picking "the coolest man in the army," an infantry division will have a good nominee in Pfc. William Murphy of Greensboro, N. C.

His outfit was subjected to a terrific artillery battering during a fight with three Elite Nazi regiments. His buddies looked out of their foxholes, and there was Murphy, sitting calmly by a tree—reading a comics book.

Later his company moved up into the woods and snipers bullets began zinging past.

"Snipers. Murphy — snipers!" shouted his buddies, leaping for their foxholes.

"Oh," drawled Murphy lazily, "I got one eye on 'em."

If only Staff Sergt. Oliver Garner could have stopped laughing he would have had two more Nazis. His armored division tank, "I Don't Wanna," engaged a German 20 mm. ack-ack gun dug in along the roadside, and destroyed it with a direct hit.

Columbiana-East Palestine Clash Headlines Saturday Slate

GAME DECIDES TRI-COUNTY'S SECOND SPOT

McGahan, Gorby to Match Running Wares With Newell and Evans

One of the district's highlights in football tomorrow is the annual clash between the Columbiana Clippers and East Palestine Bulldogs on the Firestone park gridiron at 2:30 p. m.

Not only is there the usual rivalry between the two Columbiana county schools, but the vital second place is at stake in the Tri-County loop standings, and the winner will take over the undisputed runner-up place for the 1944 season.

Climaxing brilliant seasons for both squads, the game will see a host of the county's top backs in action against each other. For the Clippers, talented Bill Newell, Chesty Evans and Keith Laughlin will be exhibited against the wares of Coach John Reid's Herb Gorby and Harry McGahan.

Rated as one of the highest scorers in the state, Gorby will attempt to display some more touchdown passes against the old rivals and McGahan, a fast, shifty half-back, will try his ground-gaining end sweeps against the potent Clipper forward wall.

Both of these teams were in the race for Tri-County honors until they met Boardman. Comparison of the results of these games gives fans a real idea of what a battle can be expected. Boardman nipped Clipper power 16-7 and defeated East Palestine 13-0. Both teams were beaten by about the same margin, a factor that makes for a tough ball game tomorrow.

Another factor to be considered is the tie that East Palestine posted against a powerful Leetonia team which defeated Columbiana 19-6. The Bulldogs racked up a 19-19 tie against Coach J. L. McBride's outfit in the first round of the season, but the Clippers couldn't equal the mark.

Both Beaten Twice
East Palestine has been beaten just twice, once by Salem 20-6 and again by Boardman 13-0. The Clippers have dropped two games in eight, losing to Leetonia and Boardman.

All factors totaled point to an even game. If the Clippers can stop Gorby and McGahan, and the Bulldogs can hold Newell and his cohorts, power alone will tell the tale.

Coach John Cabas plans to employ his shifty offense to good advantage, mixing a T-formation with a single wing that has proved too much for most opponents this season.

About Equal
Both teams boast the same number of lettermen and about the same weight proportions, although Gorby's 210 pounds give the Bulldogs a slight weight advantage in the backfield.

The East Palestine band, a 60-piece outfit, is expected to perform at the halftime and the classy, but smaller, Clipper band has his special Armistice day proceedings in order.

One of the largest crowds in years is expected to jam the Firestone stadium.

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Nov. 10. — When Troy N. Y. High school played Catholic Central for the city football title recently, both tries for points had to be attempted at the opposite end of the field from where the touchdowns were made. The upper part of one goal post was missing and authorities apparently could get pipe to replace it. And when Greenville, S. C., High defeated Porter Military academy of Charleston, 46-13, Greenville averaged only one yard punting. The victors' single kick was blown back almost to where it started.

QUAKER CAGE CARD ANNOUNCED; OPENS DEC. 5 WITH RAVENS

First Season For Robert Miller Includes Ten Here, Eight Away

Salem High's 1944-45 basketball squad — coached by a new man, Robert J. Miller — will begin operations for the year within a week or two and will open an 18-game schedule in the High school gym against Ravens on Dec. 5, it was announced today.

With 10 home games booked and eight contests set for out of town, Coach Miller and his group of candidates are expected to start working out either next week or the week after.

Newcomers on the Salem card this year are scarce. Akron Kenmore being the only new team listed this year. Youngstown Ravens, absent last season but an old rival, is back again.

Two home-and-home series are booked this year, instead of three as played previously. In 1943-44 Salem met Alliance, East Liverpool and Canton Lincoln twice during the season, but this year only one game is set with Lincoln while two are arranged with East Liverpool and Alliance two arch-rivals of the Quakers.

The new coach, an Ohio State graduate and basketball star, is replacing Herb Brown, who left here in August after coaching cagers at the High school for 12 years.

The schedule is as follows:
Dec. 5—Ravens, here.
Dec. 8—Columbiana, there.
Dec. 12—Lisbon, there.
Dec. 15—Minerva, here.
Dec. 29—Canton Lincoln, here.
Jan. 2—Alumni, here.
Jan. 5—Alliance, there.
Jan. 12—East Liverpool, here.
Jan. 20—Warren, there.
Jan. 23—Yen. Ravens, there.
Jan. 26—Akron Kenmore, here.

Scribes Take Shots Again At Improving Win Average

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Returning to the football guessing game this week, we wish we could point with pride to the selections of the Sub Fritz Howard last week but he picked Notre Dame to beat Navy. He had been warned that the Middies were through fooling. At that he turned in a performance of only 11 defeats and one tie against 35 victories.

So having placed the rabbit's foot on top of this week's schedule and tossed a horseshoe found at Belmont park over our left shoulder, we give you:

Notre Dame-Army—Notre Dame never has been defeated by both Navy and Army the same year. Army hasn't scored against the Irish since 1938. The Cadets will break both traditions this year.

Cornell-Navy—Just a breeze for those hard-hitting Middies. Third Air Force-Great Lakes—This figure to be a close one with the home team, Great Lakes, getting the call.

Picks Michigan

Illinois-Michigan—The Wolverines look even stronger with Bob Weiss and Bob Nussbaumer gone, but the Illini has Buddy Young. Nevertheless, Michigan.

Tulane-Georgia Tech—Tech to rebound from the Duke defeat. Pittsburgh-Ohio State—The Buckeyes in a tune-up for next week's clash with Illinois.

Wake Forest-Duke—The Deacons have one of their strongest outfits in years but Duke is one of the nation's top losing teams. Duke.

Columbia-Pennsylvania—This one is easy. Penn.

Indiana-Minnesota—The Gophers haven't what it takes to stop Indiana's Bob Hoernschemeyer. Colgate-Holy Cross—A ding dong battle with Holy Cross winning.

Missouri-Oklahoma—The Sooners march on to the big six title. Brown-Yale—The Bulldogs from New Haven are on top this year. Yale.

GREMLINS FACING SAILORS SATURDAY

Paul Brown Warns Squad That This May Be The Best They Meet

By JAN HARTNETT

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—Perhaps Gremlins are not supposed to annoy sailors, but the Great Lakes Bluejacket gridders will find out for sure tomorrow when they tangle with the star-studded Third Air Force Gremlins from Morris Field, N. C., at Great Lakes in the Midwestern version of the Army-Navy game.

The Tars, winners in six games, losers to Ohio State and tied by Illinois, will be opposed by a team that outweighs them in every department. Coach Paul E. Brown has warned his men that the Gremlins will be the best team they'll face this season.

Around other Midwest camps . . . Babe Dumancheff, top Western conference scorer, will team up with three Purdue freshmen backs when the Boilermakers face Northwestern tomorrow. Fullback Ed Cody will not be able to play against the Wildcats because of injuries. . . . Bob Runkle, V-12 transfer from Valley City, N. D., was groomed for an end post yesterday as the Minnesota squad brushed up attack maneuvers for the Indiana invasion. . . . A contingent of 35 Illinois football players left yesterday for Ann Arbor, Mich., where they will work out today preparatory to the Wolverine battle. . . . Indiana's athletes lumbered up in a short drill before entering for Minneapolis.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

Now that you mention it, Judge, I can see this really has been a war of jobs.

"Yes it has, Fred, and the biggest job of all is the one being done by our armed forces across the sea... the actual physical fighting that is bringing victory closer day by day."

"And here at home, Judge, our job has been to supply our men abroad with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. And to provide the money to buy these supplies through our purchase of War Bonds. By and large, I think we've taken our job seriously, too."

"You're right, Fred, we have. But there's one more big job we've got to do for our men over there. That is to abide by their wishes that this country should be kept the same way it was when they left it... not changed around while they're away and can't express their opinions."

"In all fairness, Judge, that's a simple request no one can afford to disregard."

Man Outbuilt
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Technicians have developed the airplane to a point where mechanical failure is rare, but man is still bound by human frailties, says Flying magazine. Man has been outbuilt, and now it is the pilot who cracks up before the plane, so high are the speeds and so intense the pressures of responsibility and combat-fatigue. To combat these strains the Navy has placed a flight surgeon with each squadron, who watches over the air-crews like an anxious mother, and takes them off duty when they approach the breaking point.
